New Brockton Town Council meeting includes swearing-in ceremony

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The New Brockton Town Council meeting Monday night, Jan. 4, was rather routine other than beginning with a swearing-in ceremony for new District Two council member Justin Flowers.

Flowers was appointed to the vacant council seat after no person sought election for the position in the 2020 municipal election.

The financial report provided by town clerk Debra Andrews showed positive numbers for the town.

At the end of December 2020, the town showed a balance of $637,637.67 in its general fund while other based on a case-by-case review and approval by the state health department or local health jurisdiction.

The Alabama Department of Public Health advises the following measures to prevent the spread of COVID-19:

- Wash your hands frequently with soap and water for 20 seconds
- Social distance by staying 6 feet away from others
- Avoid people who are sick
- Stay home if you can; work remotely if possible
- Cover your mouth and nose with a face covering

NO INJURIES IN TUESDAY MORNING WRECK...Emergency responders in Elba were dispatched Tuesday morning, Jan. 5, around 9:20 a.m. to this two-vehicle wreck on Hwy. 203 (bypass) in Elba. A Nissan Altima (car on left) reportedly was attempting to pull onto the 203 Bypass when it collided with the Lincoln sedan (shown at right). There were no injuries reported from this collision, which was investigated by Elba Police. Members of the Elba Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

SATURDAY WRECK AT BUSY CURTIS COMMUNITY INTERSECTION...The intersection of U.S. Highway 84 and Alabama Highway 141 in the Curtis Community of Coffee County claimed two more vehicles in a wreck Saturday, Jan. 2nd. Since the opening of the Hwy. 84 four-lane intersection has been the spot for numerous wrecks, and while the frequency of the wrecks has slowed due to increased efforts to remind motorists traveling on Hwy. 141 to stop and yield to Hwy. 84 traffic, there still continue to be incidents at this intersection. On Saturday, an out-of-state car traveling South on Hwy. 141 reportedly was attempting to cross Hwy. 84 when the driver of the vehicle crossed the median and failed to see the SUV shown above traveling East on Hwy. 84. The two vehicles collided, with the car coming to a stop in the ditch by the intersection. According to an eyewitness of the accident and emergency responders on scene, the persons transported from the scene by ambulance for medical treatment did not appear to have serious injuries. The accident was investigated by Alabama State Troopers. Assisting at the scene were Coffee County Sheriff's Deputies and the Elba Fire Department.

town accounts also show positive balances. Andrews reported that income for the month of December had been $94,142.42 while overall expenses were just over $107,499.

She said all the regular monthly bills for the town had not been received as of Monday night's meeting, but the estimated cost for the regular monthly bills in January would be $19,413.89. The council approved a motion to allow Andrews to move forward with paying the town's bills for the month.

Mayor Kathy Holley said the local DAV chapter had been utilizing a storage room at town hall for several years, but the town had reached a point where it needs that storage space. Therefore, she asked the council to give her permission to ask the DAV group to locate another avenue for its storage needs and remove the items currently being stored at the town hall location.

Holley suggested giving the DAV group up to three months to find an alternate storage location for their items. She said they had not been paying rent for utilization of the storage room at New Brockton Town Hall, therefore, she felt providing them three months to find an alternate location for their storage would be an adequate request.

The council agreed with the mayor as it voted to approve a motion to give the local DAV chapter up to three months to remove its items being stored at New Brockton Town Hall to allow the town to utilize that storage area instead for its own needs.

Also during the meeting, Council members approved an ordinance to set up an account that Mayor Holley said would be used for CDBG grant monies for the town's lift stations project;

Council members approved the appointment of several individuals to serve on the town's planning commission. The persons appointed to this commission are set to serve staggered terms [from one year up to six year terms].

Prior to adjourning the meeting, Mayor Holley noted that the town hall offices would be closed Monday, Jan. 18, in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Normally on this holiday, there is a "Walk of Remembrance" and Martin Luther King Jr. Day Celebration Program held in New Brockton;

92.14% of Alabama ICU beds full!

Coffee County confirmed 500-plus COVID-19 cases over last 2 weeks

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Coffee County over the past 14 days escalated to more than 500, and local officials continue to ask citizens to follow the state's Safer at Home Order, to include the wearing of facial covers when in the public and/or within 6-feet of another person outside one's household. The current Safer at Home public health order, amended Dec. 9, 2020, remains in effect until 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22, 2021.

Over the past 14 days, the Alabama Department of Public Health's COVID-19 dashboard [as of Tuesday morning, Jan. 5th] showed Coffee County had 531 confirmed cases of COVID-19 during the 2-week period. That brought the counties overall total of confirmed cases [since tracking began in March, 2020] to 3,788 cases.

"Our numbers are not much worse but also not better," Coffee County EMA director James Brown said Tuesday, Jan. 5, regarding the past two weeks. "We also think we may have reached testing capacity, and so we don't plan on seeing our reported numbers grow exponentially from where they are currently. In fact, we are only expecting numbers to grow if our positivity rate continues to climb [number of positive tests out of all tests given]."

Brown said this does not mean the county won't have more cases in the community, but instead that it might not be able to test everyone that has symptoms. He said his office had been in contact with ADPH about adding additional testing times in the county but manning is stretched to capacity.

Of the 531 cases in Coffee County for the two weeks, 327 of those were confirmed Dec. 29th - Jan. 4th, according to numbers from the ADPH website. There were 60 new cases identified on Dec. 29; 50 new cases on Dec. 30; 57 new cases on Dec. 31; 50 new cases on Jan. 1; 43 new cases on Jan. 2; 21 new cases on Jan. 3; and 46 new cases on Jan. 4.

"We do expect more cases after the Christmas/New Year's holidays, but again we may not see the climb in number of 'reported cases' if we have truly met our testing capacity," Brown said. "This may only be evident as hospitalizations go up again in about 3-4 weeks or so from now."

As for hospitals, he said the numbers are not good currently. Brown said there were 3,080 COVID-19 patients in Alabama as of Tuesday - 20.27 percent of all hospitalizations. He added that 92.14 percent of all ICU beds in Alabama were full earlier this week.

"Locally, some look worse and are in negative territory for ICU beds," Brown said.

percent of all ICU beds in Alabama were full earlier this week. "Locally, some look worse and are in negative territory for ICU beds," Brown said. "Not all hospitals report this information to the public, and we cannot share individual hospital capacity numbers unless there is an operational need to do so."

Also, earlier this week, Alabama maintained the number two spot in the country among states for COVID-19 positivity rate going from 38.7 percent last week up to 46.7 percent this week.

Brown said this indicates that almost half of the tests taken in Alabama are coming back positive, indicative of very high community spread. "During the last report on COVID-19 cases in Coffee County, we stood at just under 37 new cases per day over the previous two-week period," Brown said. "This week we went up one a day at 37.9 cases a day [531 cases over the last two weeks]."

Prior to the start of the New Brockton Town Council meeting held Monday night, Jan. 4, Justin Flowers officially was sworn-in as the District Two council member for the town. No person ran for the office of District Two council member during the 2020 municipal election, and following the election, Flowers was identified as being willing to serve for his district. After being appointed for the spot, he was sworn-in Monday night with the oath of office administered (above) by Coffee County Probate Judge Jodee Thompson. Also pictured, holding the Bible during the swearing-in, is Flowers' wife.

"From New Year's on the outlook brightens; good humor lost in a mood of failure returns. I resolve to stop complaining." - Leonard Bernstein

The Texas preacher killed with his own gun Sunday is a prime example of how things can go wrong, in spite of your determination. We often remind folks carrying a gun to 'be careful' someone doesn't take it away from you and use it on you. It often prompts a laugh . . . but not today from the members of that Texas church. The man charged with killing the preacher reportedly took it away from the him as the preacher discovered the man hiding in a church restroom and with a church bank bag in his possession. Now we don't think the preacher did anything wrong . . . except letting the thug catch him off guard and take his weapon.

We are writing this on Tuesday morning while Georgia voters are returning to the polls to settle run-off races in two U. S. Senate races. The millions of dollars spent on this would have fed a whole bunch of hungry people in America and around the world. However, supporters of each side in this race felt strongly enough of the outcome that they continued to pump millions into the race, right on up to (and including) election day. Odds are that no one will know for days - or weeks - after the polls close tonight exactly if the Democrats take over either of the two offices or if the Republicans hold on to one of both of the Senate seats. The outcome will surely determine the direction of the Senate and ultimately the entire President Biden political agenda for the next few years. Counting the early voting ballots, doing recounts (as was done in Georgia for the presidential race of November 2020), and maybe some lawsuits could drag this matter out for a month or more. Even then you can expect claims and counterclaims will dominate the national news even longer.

COVID-19 continues to ravage the world and especially the United States. The US is often "first" in many categories but leading the world in COVID cases - and deaths - is not one Americans asked for, yet in the statistics column this great country won anyway. In spite of news of several vaccines being approved for the general public, politics, red tape, and just simple logistics are slowing the act of getting those shots into our arms. Of course there are those who are actually declining the vaccines when they are offered! We were shocked to read that an alarming number of medical professionals - those on the front lines of the battle - are declining the shots. There are two real problems with that position. One is that they are definitely a threat of becoming the next victim. Second, with their increased chance of catching the bug they increase the threat of the virus being spread to others.

Personally, we have had at least a half dozen close relatives who tested positive for COVID-19. Most of those cases have been classified as mild, but a couple were (are) serious. A niece was a medical miracle when she was an early survivor. Right now, an 80-year-old sister is nearing the end of her second week sleeping in a Georgia hospital bed hooked up to all kinds of machines as she battles a full blown case of COVID-19. How she got it? It is a puzzle to all, as she only left home to go to her doctor and maybe visit the druggist to pick up her meds, fully masked, etc. Her underlying health issues probably played a large part in her contracting the virus and her ultimate hospital confinement.

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's comments are best delivered using your biggest Southern drawl, lol!

Cuzin Lou Lou rang in the New Year in quite the low-key fashion this year. Actually, she did it in a way she probably has not done since she was a small child... she was in bed [awake and watching television, but in bed ready to drift off to sleep none-the-less].

Around 10:30 p.m. New Year's Eve, Lou Lou participated in a tradition Sister began many years ago with Mama. After Mama went on to be with the Lord, Lou Lou stepped in to fill Mama's spot in order to keep the tradition alive for Sister.

Sister and Lou Lou toasted the New Year clinging two glasses of sparkling white grape juice together!

Knowing she would be retiring to bed much earlier than the norm for a New Year's Eve, Lou Lou captured the "cheers" moment between the glasses of fruity tastiness with her camera and waited until the booming of fireworks began all around Yonder at the stroke of midnight to post the ever-so low-key celebration on social media. With a little bit of mischief in mind, Lou Lou intentionally did not note in her post that the beverage of choice was only juice. The post simply read "Happy New Year! Cheers!" accompanied by the photo of the two toasting glasses.

Lou Lou has smiled over the past several days when she thinks about that post because she knows, somewhere, someone had an unkind judgment upon incorrectly identifying the beverage. Another night, it could and might have been something different, but not last Thursday night.

Truthfully, Lou Lou wanted the post to serve as a personal reminder.

Lou Lou wants to always remember that we all have the freedom to make our own choices about things - both big and small, AND, those not included in one's decision-making does not have the right to judge another for his/her decision.

Cuzin Lou Lou hopes she can move through 2021 with a purpose of trying to not be judgmental of others for the things they choose to do or not do. As far as Lou Lou is concerned, there was entirely too much of that going on in 2020 both on social media and in our daily lives.

The "Cheers" post is going to serve as a trigger for Lou Lou to remember that sometimes things may or may not be as they appear [i.e., was it grape juice or was it something entirely different] - either way, it does not matter to anyone except those who are involved in the decision-making process.

In the case of the clinging glasses on New Year's Eve 2020, it was, indeed, some rather tasty sparkling white grape juice.

Don't you agree...there would be far less arguments on social media [and in life in general] if we all remembered that judgment has no place here nor there.

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling! Happy New Year!!

Brown said ADPH had not added any new deaths to the county's numbers as of Tuesday morning of this week; however, he said Coffee County's death numbers had doubled over the last month. Coffee County was reporting 17 deaths on Dec. 3, 2020, but as of Tuesday, Jan. 5, there had been 38 deaths reported for Coffee County [20 listed as confirmed due to COVID with 18 listed as probable].

"For figuring, we can expect about one percent of those diagnosed to pass away [of some cause], and we can expect about 13 percent of those diagnosed over the last two weeks to need hospitalization with 3-4 weeks of diagnoses," Brown said.

Brown said he expects the true number of COVID cases to continue to climb, but he does not expect to see that climb necessarily reflected in the numbers distributed by ADPH.

"We also don't see things improving in the near future as the public lacks confidence in the reported case numbers and viability of the vaccine," he said. "Without large numbers receiving the vaccine the situation will continue to compound."

Brown said another unfortunate thing to consider is that as the matter continues to progress fewer people could be staying in quarantine when testing positive or being exposed to the virus because they are not convinced of the seriousness of the pandemic.

"We also don't see people convinced or their minds changing unless [an if] they have a negative personal or family experience with this virus," Brown said. "We need to continue to encourage people to listen to the recommendations and even go beyond the big three [wear a mask, wash hands, social distance]. I know I have added 'clean all surfaces' to my list."

He added, "We can also encourage the public to refrain from participation in large group activities, especially indoors, and ask them to stay home as much as possible [and not travel]."

As of Tuesday, ADPH reported 226,280 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine available with 42,810 administered. Brown said he had not heard any news on when the vaccine administration would move into "Phase 1B" to include all first responders.

"We do remain confident in our previous predictions, however, that less people will get this vaccine than those that get the flu vaccine," Brown said. "We have been told that some pharmacies may be receiving doses of the vaccine 'soon' and this will improve the ability to distribute and open it up to more people."

For now, he said, "We pin our hopes on the best and continue to plan for the worst."

New Year's Resolutions & Grief
As the new year begins, that means reflecting on the past year and looking to improving your wellness, health and life. But for those who have lost someone, resolution season can be a difficult time of making promises that are hard to keep. Here are a few tips for getting through resolution season.
Make Tangible Goals. It's easy to say "I want to lose weight" or "I want to make more money." How do you plan to lose weight? How are you going to make more money? Attach concrete tasks to each goal. You can pledge to improve work output and earn a bonus or promotion. You can vow to cut down on sweets or fried foods and plan to work out more to lose weight. For those that are grieving, the goals may be more rooted in emotion. "I want to cope better with loss" or "I want to honor those I have lost." Scheduling those crucial first appointments with grief counselors or therapists can help aid some of the grief of loss. Now, for honoring those that have passed on, those goals can be more varied.
Getting Creative. Honoring those that have been lost is a deeply personal task. Each person is different and each person's legacy is different. Some would love to be honored by a special memorial garden while others would want their loved ones to go on one more spectacular trip. Other ways of honoring those lost would be to vow to visit the places where your loved ones are laid to rest more often. You could also try expressive ways to cope and grieve through artistic expression.
Be Honest With Yourself. Change of any kind is difficult. Change while still processing the grief of a lost loved one is even more difficult. Be honest with your emotions and your grief. If you stumble along the way, know you can always get back up. If you miss a day working out or aren't able to visit the cemetery as often as you'd like, accept it as a temporary stumbling point and move on vowing to do better next time.
This resolution season, be kind to yourself. Accept that each step is a step forward and grief comes in many forms. Use this resolution season to try new things or rediscover some old hobbies you love and shared with those who have passed. Take each day as an opportunity to honor the legacy of your loved ones.

CHURCH NEWS

PASTOR'S CORNER

by Will Jordan, Pastor

Newbia Baptist Church • 3819 City Rd 330, Elba

Recently I was in a church member's home and saw a wall piece that simply read, "Be Kind". I have not been able to get this simple, two word statement off my mind.

It occurred to me it is not always necessary to use a lot of words to convey a message. These two words transmitted the message loud, clear and fully. Being kind is not only a good idea, but for the Christian, it is mandated.

We are told about the fruit of the Spirit in Galatians 5: 22, 23 - "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control."

Please note these are not "Fruits of the Spirit" as we would think of them singularly. One might say, "Well I'm ok with all of them except this one or that one." My friends; that is not how this works. They are all a part of one thing.

Consequently, if we fail in any one of these, we have basically failed in them all. You see, you might be faithful, but if your kindness is not evident, then your faithfulness is in question. You might be kind and gentle, but lack joy and peace; which would severely hinder your walk with Christ on the journey to sanctification. The Spirit does not communicate which fruit is the most important; because they ALL ARE!

We are on a constant journey to sanctification, and certainly we all stumble from time to time. If we are saved and filled with the Holy Spirit, then we know that only through Christ can we truly receive the fruit of the Spirit. The wonderful thing is that God's mercy is truly fresh every day. There is nothing we have thought, said, or done that is too big for God's forgiveness. We must simply and sincerely ask forgiveness and turn away from the sin.

Christians are not meant to walk around with a sour outlook, seldom sharing a smile. We are to be the happiest people in the world. Now, I know that we will have bad days, but remember what Paul tells us in Romans 8:28 - "And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose."

Even when we fall away or make mistakes, God can use the situation for good. We might not see it at the time, but He will.

So in 2021, let's concentrate not only on being kind, but also on love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. With us, this is impossible, but with our all-powerful, all knowing and ever present God ALL things are possible.

Looking for Answers in All the Wrong Places

In October 1347, the worst mass killer in history started on it awful (and awe-inspiring) course. In less than four years, 25 million people in Europe - one third of the population - had died from the Black Death. Most of it victims died within a week, their skin bearing the black blotches that gave the plague its name.

Some physicians blamed an unfortunate alignment of the planets; others said the plague came from poisonous fumes released by earthquakes. Not knowing that being bitten by fleas (which transmitted the disease from infected rats) was the source of the disease, doctors recommended various avoidance regimens, such as eating figs and filberts in the morning or not sleeping on one's back so "evil airs" would not run down the nose into the lungs. The doctors were looking in all the wrong places. Religious leaders were no better; to avoid the Black Death. Pope Clement VI isolated himself and rubbed an emerald ring. In Zedekiah's time, the priests and the people together practiced the idolatrous and immoral follies of their neighbors rather than looking to God for answers to the troubles their nation was having. We do the same today; after each news making tragedy, we pass more laws or sanction some rogue dictator or take some other external action.

What we need is a moral regeneration that only God can provide. - C.R.B.

ADPH encourages "test home for radon"

Many Alabama residents are spending more time inside their homes because of the COVID-19 pandemic. This means children and adults are exposed to indoor air quality problems that include radon.

January has been designated Radon Action Month. Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that can cause lung cancer. Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the United States and the leading cause of lung cancer in nonsmokers. Radon claims an estimated 21,000 lives in the U.S. a year, according to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

"The best time to test for radon is during the colder months when your home is closed and radon levels are likely to build to their highest concentrations," David Turberville, director of the Office of Radiation Control, Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH), said. "We encourage you to test your home by ordering a radon test kit."

Radon appears to occur most frequently in homes across the Tennessee Valley and in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains from Jefferson and Shelby counties through Cleburne County. High levels of indoor radon have also been found in other areas of Alabama. Because radon is a colorless, odorless gas that occurs naturally in soil and rocks through the breakdown of uranium, testing is the only way to know the radon level in a home.

Radon test kits weigh only a few ounces and cost about $25. Testing for radon should be done on the lowest level of the home on which the occupants spend time, so a finished basement or a basement containing a workshop is a good place to test. Kitchens are not recommended testing areas.

"Testing directions are provided on the kit, and it only takes a few days to obtain a sample."

Turberville said. "It is easy to perform a radon test on your home."

While radon test kits are available at many larger home improvement stores, Alabama homeowners can order kits online through the National Radon Program Services at <https://sosradon.org/A> free test kit is also available from <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/radon/radon-testing.html> while supplies last.

If test results are above the levels recommended by the EPA and the ADPH, homeowners should consider installing a radon remediation system. Systems generally cost between $1,500 and $2,500, depending on the square footage of the residence and the difficulty in finding a suitable pathway for a radon removal pipe. Homes with a crawl space, no gravel under the slab, or a completely finished lower level sometimes cost more.

More information about protecting yourself and your family is available from <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/radon/> and from A Citizens Guide to Radon which is available at https://www.epa.gov/sites/production/files/2016-12/documents/2016_a_citizens_guide_to_radon.pdf.

LBWCC launches new volleyball program

Lurleen B. Wallace Community College announces the addition of women's volleyball to its intercollegiate athletic program. The program is scheduled to begin in the fall of 2021.

"We are extremely excited to announce the addition of a volleyball program at LBW," said President, Dr. Brock Kelley.

"This will not only allow student-athletes to have an opportunity to extend their playing career after high school but will allow these students to take part in our ever-growing academic programs."

LBWCC will join 10 other colleges in the Alabama Community College Conference that currently offer the program.

"Our goal at LBW with the addition of this program is to bridge the gap of opportunity for Alabama high school volleyball players, especially in South Alabama," Kelley added.

"Our hope is to continue to remove barriers for individuals in all aspects. With the lack of a community college volleyball program in our area, this is one more barrier we are able to remove."

With the addition of women's volleyball, LBWCC will offer 5 athletic programs including, two men's and three women's programs.

The search for the program's head coach will begin in the near future, according to Kelley.

"This is a great opportunity to grow the athletic department at LBW and expand our reach to more student athletes," said Athletic Director, Steve Helms.

"Adding women's volleyball will enhance the traditions already established in our athletic program which focuses on developing young men and women for life after sports."

For more information on the new volleyball program contact Athletic Director, Steve Helms at shelms@lbwcc.edu.

Wallace Community College offers free Women in Welding Workshop

Wallace Community College Workforce Development, The Wiregrass Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council, and Lincoln Electric have collaborated to create a workshop for females ages 16 and up who are interested in welding.

Wiregrass RC&D funded the grant to increase the awareness and participation of non-traditional students in career and technical education (CTE) programs in Houston and Barbour Counties.

"Our hope is that the workshops will empower women to see the earning potential they have in our community's welding industry," said Joe Johnson, director of Workforce Development at Wallace Community College.

The workshops will be held at Wallace Community College in Dothan January 23 and 30, 2021 and at WCCD Sparks Campus in Eufaula February 6 and 13, 2021.

"We are super excited to partner with Wiregrass RC&D to offer the welding workshops in Houston and Barbour Counties," Johnson said. "It's a great opportunity for those that may have been affected by COVID-19 at no cost to them to really get an idea if our welding program or technical fields will be of interest to them. It's just a great opportunity."

Though the grant is focused on non-traditional students, it is also a chance for high school students who are interested in welding through dual enrollment to get a firsthand look at what Wallace has to offer.

"The Women in Welding grant is just another way for Wallace Community College to open the 'doors of opportunity' for our dual-

"Welding has traditionally been viewed as a male-dominated occupation but this grant initiative will empower young women to see the earning potential for women in the industry. Now, more than ever, our dual enrollment program is primed and ready to be used as a catalyst to fill business and industry needs by allowing young women to start these programs as early as the tenth grade."

Views From
The Pressbox
By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson was over at the house one afternoon last week and before he headed back home reminded us that this year we would celebrate new year's at his home. He said we were all going to eat chips, play games and then go outside and shoot off fireworks. Our little man was right, again, because that was just what we did, and we enjoyed every minute of it!

For what it is worth....

 It was good to see high school basketball alive and well last week at the Elba Tiger gym as six girls teams and four boys teams came together for two days of action. The worldwide pandemic has resulted in countless games being cancelled this season all across the state, and that is why teams from as far away as Montgomery and Dothan came to town to get in some action during the holidays. Everything went smooth and fans came out in big numbers to support their favorite teams, and for two days last week all was well in the world of high school sports.

 It was a mixed bag of success for the Elba Tigers and Lady Tigers in the tourney as the Tigers lost two games and the Lady Tigers won one and lost one. The Tigers played two up-tempo teams in Georgiana and Highland Home and at times held their own, but saw long dry spells on offense in both games lead to double-digit losses. Despite the losses the Tigers played hard for all thirty-two minutes of both games and never gave up, which should lead to some wins when the regular season resumes. The Lady Tigers lit up the scoreboard for 28 points in the fourth quarter in their opening night win and gained some very valuable experience the second night in a match-up against the state's top ranked team in Class 3A. The Lady Tigers are still looking to put all the pieces together for another run at the state tournament, and I still believe their best ball is yet to come.

 None of the teams in the area took advantage of the two-day play date last week in Elba to get in some games, but all the teams are now looking at the tip off of area contests and that means they will take the court, ready or not. Brantley is without a doubt the best team around and the Bulldogs should be the team to beat, while the Lady Bulldogs from Brantley and Kinston are both talented and have the experience to make some noise. New Brockton played a lot of games and showed signs of being better than expected, but that is about it as the other teams missed more games than they played and may pay the price very soon.

 In closing.... All Alabama fans had to be thinking 'here we go again' last week when Steve Sarkisian was hired away as the new head football coach at Texas. Bama fans still remember Lane Kiffin leaving just before the Clemson game a few years back, as well as Kirby Smart and Jeremy Pruitt both hanging around in the post-season after taking head coaching jobs. Since Sark is going to stay on the sidelines through the Ohio State game hopefully the change won't prove fatal to the Tide's national title hopes. However, his attention has to be at least shared with Texas, and that can never be good.

In 57-43 loss

Fourth quarter rally falls short for Tigers

The Elba Tigers fell behind big early and saw a furious fourth quarter rally fall short in a 57-43 loss to the Highland Home Flying Squadron, last Tuesday night in the Pea River Christmas Classic.

The Tigers came out sluggish in the second night of the tournament and watched as Highland Home raced out to an early 11-2 lead and carried a big 21-6 lead into the second quarter. The Flying Squadron upped its lead to 26-8 early in the second quarter, but Elba began to show signs of life midway through the stanza and cut the lead to 26-12 after two quick baskets by Byron Burks and Iverson Lane. The rally didn't last for long; however, as Highland Home closed the half with a 7-2 run to carry a 33-14 lead in at intermission.

Highland Home scored the first six points of the third quarter to stretch its lead to 39-14, and while JT Coleman did get inside the Squadron defense for a three-point play to pump life into the Elba fans, the Squadron answered with back-to-back 3-pointers to take its biggest lead of the night at 46-18 late in the quarter.

Highland Home owned a 50-22 lead early in the fourth quarter and emptied its bench. However, the Tigers refused to quit and sparked by four 3-pointers by Collin Harrison went on a 16-0 tear to close the gap to 50-38. Chrystyle Caldwell muscled inside for two baskets and Byron Burks added a late 3-ponter, but the Squadron starters reentered the game and preserved the 57-43 win over the Tigers.

Collin Harrison scored 12 points to lead Elba, while Byron Burks and Chrystyle Caldwell both added 9 points. JJ Faulk scored 17 points and Treager Cooper added 15 to lead Highland Home.

H.H. (57): Cooper 15, Brown 9, Harris 5, McKenzie 8, Faulk 17, Taylor 3.

Elba (43): Lane 4, Burks 9, Harrison 12, Prince 2, Coleman 3, Washington 2, Caldwell 9.

Gamecock trio named 'Elite 11'

The Southeast Sun announced its annual 'Elite 11' high school football selections for the 2020 season and included on the list were New Brockton Gamecock standouts Kaden Cupp, Julian Noble and Colton Marsh.

The list is compiled annually by the weekly newspaper published in Enterprise, and includes players from Enterprise, Daleville and New Brockton. Cupp, a junior, quarterback, battled injuries throughout the season, yet still managed to pass for 836 yards and six touchdowns and rush for 795 yards and 12 td's to lead the Gamecock offense.

Noble, a senior, running back/linebacker, rushed for 148 yards and one touchdown, caught five passes for 83 yards and one td, and on defense recorded 51 tackles, including nine tackles for losses and five sacks.

Marsh, a senior, wide-receiver/defensive back, had 12 receptions for 212 yards and two touchdowns, and on defense recorded 16 tackles and 3 interceptions.

Elba clawed by Panthers 66-66

The Elba Tigers hosted the Georgiana Panthers last Monday night in the opening round of the Pea River Christmas Classic and never recovered from a five-minute scoring drought in the second quarter in a big 66-47 loss.

Elba jumped out to an early 2-0 lead on a basket by Chrystyle Caldwell and held its own with the highly-ranked Panthers throughout the opening quarter as a late lay-up by Kimdarius Hill pulled the Tigers within 13-12 heading into the second stanza.

The second quarter was a different story; however, as Georgiana took advantage of a five-minute scoring drought by the Tigers to go on a 14-0 run as the Panthers stretched their lead to 27-12 midway through the quarter. A 3-pointer by Collin Harrison with 2:55 remaining in the quarter snapped the long drought, and Harrison and Kimdarius Hill both later added 3-pointers during a 9-0 Elba run as the Tigers rallied to cut the Panthers lead to 27-21.

Georgiana carried a 31-23 lead into the third quarter and quickly regained command as the Panthers used a 14-1 run during the initial four minutes of the quarter to extend their lead to 45-24 with 4:09 left in the stanza. The Tigers Jaquez Prince scored five points in the closing minutes of the quarter to try and spark a late rally, but Georgiana refused to surrender its lead, and connected on 6 of 8 free throws down the stretch to carry a 51-33 advantage into the final stanza.

Elba never backed down in the closing quarter and behind two long 3-pointers by Jaquez Prince battled until the final horn. However, the Panthers quickly upped their lead to 59-37 and easily held on to hand the Tigers the 66-47 setback.

Kimdarius Hill scored 13 points to lead Elba, while Jaquez Prince added 11 and Collin Harrison scored 10. Azenda Pennington scored 27 points to lead Georgiana.

G'giana (66): Bell 5, Feagin 2, Walker 2, Mobley 9, Pennington 27, Sims 4, Longmire 9, Boggan 10.

Elba (47): Hill 13, Harrison 10, Prince 11, Coleman 4, Caldwell 9.

Outscore Georgiana 67-56

Lady Tigers win a wild one

The Elba Lady Tigers spotted Georgiana an early 9-0 lead and then came roaring back to outscore the Lady Panthers 67-56, last Monday night in the opening round of the Pea River Christmas Classic.

The Lady Tigers had a hard time finding their way to the basket in the early minutes of the opening stanza and watched as Georgiana raced out to a 9-0 lead before Elba coach Shaun Hammonds called a time out to settle down his team. The time out worked, at least for senior guard Makinna Gray, as the speedy ball-handler scored nine points in the final three minutes of the quarter and drained a late 3-pointer to pull the Lady Tigers within 12-9 heading into the second quarter.

Georgiana stretched its lead to 18-11 early in the second quarter, but back-to-back 3-pointers by Jaylen Baker and Breanna Sanders pulled Elba within one point at 18-17, and when Jayla Gray drove in for a basket with 2:16 left in the stanza the Lady Tigers had caught the Lady Panthers at 21-21, and when the horn sounded to end the half the score was still tied at 23-23.

Makinna Gray sparked a 5-0 Elba run early in the third quarter as the Lady Tigers grabbed a 28-23 lead, and when Nina Williams hit a short jumper midway through the stanza the lead was up to 32-25 with 4:14 remaining in the quarter. The Lady Panthers used an 11-4 run to pull even at 36-36 late in the stanza. However, Danaejah Flowers and Nina Williams scored in the closing minute to allow the Lady Tigers to carry a 39-36 lead into the fourth quarter.

Georgiana opened the fourth quarter with a 6-2 run to take a 42-41 lead with 6:23 left on the clock, but a put back by Danaejah Flowers on a missed free-throw put Elba back in front 43-42, and when Jayla Gray scored on a driving lay-up the Lady Tigers had used a 6-0 run to grab a 47-42 lead. Georgiana cut the lead to 47-46 and appeared ready to regain the lead, but Jaylen Baker and Jayla Gray combined for four points to push the lead to 51-46, only to see the Lady Panthers stage another rally to pull even at 53-53 with 3:02 left in the contest.

Jayla Gray and Jaylen Baker sparked a 7-0 run to put the Lady Tigers on top 60-53 with 2:11 left on the clock, and when Nina Williams scored on a steal and lay-up it completed a 13-0 Elba run that finally gave the Lady Tigers some breathing room with a 66-53 advantage, and helped the Lady Tigers post the exciting 67-56 tournament win.

Jaylen Baker scored 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead Elba, while Makinna Gray added 17 points and 4 steals, Nina Williams added 11 points and Jayla Gray scored 10 points. Tenasia Gorden scored 27 points to lead Georgiana.

Elba (67): Baker 20, Williams 11, J. Gray 10, Sanders 5, Flowers 4, M. Gray 17.

G'giana (56): Boggan 6, Haynes 4, McClain 5, Bess 14, Gorden 27.
